Teaching for Success Conference

ELT Voice Proposal Guide

2024

Be part of the conference

- ❖ Have you recently tried an innovative approach/method/technique in your language teaching or teacher training and have had success?
- ❖ Have you recently developed an English language learning project/programme to help your students learn and use the English language more easily?
- ❖ Have you recently participated in a project/program which helped you to grow professionally and further develop your teaching skills?
- ❖ Have you done an action research and find out something interesting about teaching or learning English?

Then why not sharing these stories with your peers to inspire and motivate them?

We invite you to ELT Voice stage as part of the conference to voice your stories and inspire your colleagues.

Theme

The underlying theme of the conference is ‘Towards a Continuing Professional Development’. As such, your speech should address one of the above questions.

How to submit an ELT Voice speaker proposal

We have developed the following guidance to support you with developing your ELT Voice proposal. Please take some time to read the guidance carefully, which will provide further detail on the required session duration, audience, content and format.

You can watch a video recording of ELT Voice 2019 speeches HERE to get a feel of the session format.

Planning your Speech

- Duration: 15 minutes (approximately) plus time for Q&A.

When preparing your speech, it will help to keep in mind that your session will be a monologue and only 15 minutes in duration. Your speech must have a clear message and structure to tell your story in a coherent way and allow the audience to engage.

- Speech format

You can be creative with your speech’ style and delivery mode.

Here are 10 TIPS we advise you to bear in mind when developing your speech to ensure you will have successful experience.

You can also check out this GUIDE for developing a TED talk style speech.

- The audience: English language teaching professionals in Armenia

The primary audience for the conference is English language teachers and professionals working in Armenia’s public education system – state schools, private schools, higher education institutions, as well as ELT teachers working in private language centres.

- Content: Relevant, engaging and motivational

Whether your background is in teaching, training, or research, when first thinking about your speech, it may assist to keep in mind the three key features that can make your speech a success.

- ✓ Is it relevant? Will participants take away relevant knowledge, activities or tips to take into account in their professional development?
- ✓ Is it engaging? Will your speech stir your audience’s curiosity?
- ✓ Will it inspire/motivate? Will your speech inspire and motivate your audience to action?

- Content: Presentation and hand-outs

Please feel free to make use of a variety of different content to bring your speech to life, including images, video, audio, etc.

- Content: Intellectual Property and copyrighted materials

Due to Intellectual Property Rights in the UK and internationally, we must take extra care to ensure the presentations properly attribute the creators of work where this is due. (As we will, in turn, properly attribute your work.)

Upon selection, if you plan to make use of material which does not belong to you (i.e. bodies of text, images, video, or music) we expect that you will take responsibility for requesting permission to use any copyrighted material from its creator and, as far as possible, ensure that permission is in place in advance of the date of your presentation.

Speaker Selection Criteria

Your proposal will be evaluated against the below criteria on a scale 0-5.
